JOIN OUR MISSION TO REDUCE JUVENTILE RECIDIVISM

Since 1996, we have provided over 26,000 youth with creative writing classes inside juvenile detention facilities.

The national recidivism rate is 75%, but for those who participate in our Alumni Program, less than 10% return to incarceration.

Our success reducing recidivism proves that focused resources and non-judgmental community support drive lasting change.

We are proud to announce new and diversified funding from private foundations including:

- The Marguerite Casey Foundation
- The Super Bowl Play Equity Fund
- The Weingart Foundation
- The California Endowment
- Governor Newsom’s Office via the California Reinvestment Grant

WHO WE ARE

InsideOUT Writers is a non-profit organization dedicated to reducing recidivism by providing creative writing education and comprehensive re-entry services to young people navigating juvenile detention and life after incarceration.

THE WRITING PROGRAM

The Writing Program at InsideOUT Writers encourages students to write with clarity and authenticity about their past, present, and future. Through writing, IOW students are encouraged to channel their feelings of hopelessness, anger, fear, and frustration into writing, rather than into anti-social and criminal behaviors.

THE ALUMNI PROGRAM

The Alumni Program consists of Community Reintegration and Diversion Services for individuals exiting incarceration in Los Angeles County’s Juvenile Detention Centers. These services include comprehensive case management, gang intervention, career support, mental healthcare, ongoing creative writing education, and more.

SUPER BOWL LVI UNSUNG HEROES

Ahead of Super Bowl LVI, the Los Angeles Super Bowl Host Committee has recognized InsideOUT Writers as 1 of 56 "unsung hero" grassroots organizations and nonprofits who are making a transformative impact in underserved communities across the Los Angeles region!

IN FOCUS: WORKFORCE READINESS AND JOB PLACEMENT

With the recent addition of a dynamic new case manager, InsideOUT Writers is aggressively expanding its workforce readiness and job placement efforts to promote healthy development and self-reliance among those in our Alumni Program.
This Giving Tuesday, invest in juvenile justice.
